Female Dispatch Operator: I'm ringing it now. I'll keep you advised, okay?

Male Caller: Hello?

Female Dispatch Operator: Hi, New York City police department. You called for the police at 2-7-2 Broadway?

Male Caller: Yeah-yeah but-but he already left though.

Female Dispatch Operator: Okay. Did he have a knife? Or a firearm? A gun?

Male Caller: Yeah he had some type of weapon because, um, whatever he had he shoved it in his pants.

Female Dispatch Operator: Okay, but was it a knife or a gun?

Male Caller: I couldn't tell because he-he- had it discreet so I couldn't tell.

Female Dispatch Operator: Alright, no problem.

Male Responder: [unintelligible] . . . description

Female Dispatch Operator: Where did he go?

Male Caller: Um one he's intoxicated so-

Female Dispatch Operator: Where did he go? Where did he go? Is he still inside the store?

Male Caller: No-no he left but I think he's with a woman but I don't know what car they're in. I'm outside right now trying to look but I can't find them.

Female Dispatch Operator: You don't see him?

Male Caller: No.

Female Dispatch Operator: Alright, no problem I'll let them know. Okay, they're coming.

Male Caller: Alright.

Female Dispatch Operator: Thank you.

Female Dispatch Operator: Hi in regard to 2-7-2 Broadway I just got off the line with the callback. The caller states he's not sure if it was a gun or a knife that he saw but the perp is no longer at the location. And um the complainant is going to be waiting outside for you guys.
